Many Points of Order.

DYNAMITE USED IN ATTEMPTED MURDER

(Special to Bryan Daily Eagle).
WACO, Mar. 18.—Edward Wittliff, farmer, of Ross community, 11 miles northeast of here, last night confessed, according to officers, that he blew up with dynamite the house in which his 17-year-old brother-in-law, Reinhold Fricke, of the same community, was asleep, at 5:45 yesterday morning, and from the wreckage of which Reinhold was hauled 15 minutes later, bruised, lacerated, shaken and unconscious, but still alive, saved from death by three thick mattresses on which he had slept.

This is the reason given in the alleged confession obtained after an all-day grilling of Wittliff by Sheriff Stengel and County Attorney Farmer: "Last fall Rino Fricke picked me up and threw me down and hurt me, and I had to pay the doctor's bill. Last week Rino told my wife that if I let my wife carry water any more that he was going to fix me, and he told my wife that I had no respect for her."

This was his inspiration: "Last Sunday I read in the newspaper about a house being dynamited, and I decided I would dynamite my father-in-law's house because Rino had not treated me right."

Last night he was in jail, charged with assault to murder and with arson. His bond will be set today by Justice R. B. Stanford. His examining trial will be Friday at 10 a. m.

House Is A Wreck.

His victim, Reinhold Fricke, was in Providence sanitarium last night, resting as well as could be expected. The attending physician said that as far as could be made certain Reinhold was not hurt except for minor bruises and lacerations. However, he had vomited blood twice during the day, and internal injuries might develop, it was said.

The Fricke house was wrecked, part of the floor of the room in which Rino slept being blown through the roof, all the windows broken, the flooring and underpinning and foundation of the house all over its five rooms being torn loose, and the walls bulged loose at the bottoms. The furniture was wrecked.

WOMEN'S CLUB OF TABOR MET AT HOME OF MRS. W. G. COLSON

Gardening was the main topic though several others were discussed. Each member present decided to plant at least two new vegetables. We do not mean new to everybody but new ones to be planted. A report is to be made of them in the fall. We would like for every lady in this community to do likewise; select vegetables you have never raised and plant two new ones. We would also like for every lady who can possibly do so to attend our next meeting on Wednesday, April 8th, at 2:30 o'clock at Mrs. W. G. Colson's residence, at which we will learn to prepare some new vegetable dishes, as well as serve a salad course to all present.

—A MEMBER.

GIRLS CLUB MEETING

The club girls held their regular meeting Monday afternoon. Several girls were absent but each girl present brought her sewing and a real pep meeting was held. Most of our girls are finishing up their sewing. Everyone seems interested in their work, each trying to beat the other, and by so doing we find we do not only get more of our work done, but we do it better, thus gaining more knowledge of sewing—something we ought to be proud of.

Tabor's girls' club has more than twice as many members this year than last, which is positive proof that more girls are interested in club work. Miss Roten was present and brought us books on sewing, and gave us much useful instruction on sewing and club work.

DYNAMITE USED IN ATTEMPTED MURDER

WACO, Mar. 18.—Edward Wittliff, farmer, of Ross community, 11 miles northeast of here, last night confessed, according to officers, that he blew up with dynamite the house in which his 17-year-old brother-in-law, Reinhold Fricke, of the same community, was asleep, at 5:45 yesterday morning, and from the wreckage of which Reinhold was hauled 15 minutes later, bruised, lacerated, shaken and unconscious, but still alive, saved from death by three thick mattresses on which he had slept.

This is the reason given in the alleged confession obtained after an all-day grilling of Wittliff by Sheriff Stegall and County Attorney Farmer: "Last fall Rino Fricke picked me up and threw me down and hurt me, and I had to pay the doctor's bill. Last week Rino told my wife that if I let my wife carry water any more that he was going to fix me, and he told my wife that I had no respect for her."

Last night he was in jail, charged with assault to murder and with arson. His bond will be set today by Justice R. B. Stanford. His examining trial will be Friday at 10 a. m.
House Is A Wreck.
His victim, Reinhold Fricke, was in Providence sanitarium last night, resting as well as could be expected. The attending physician said that as far as could be made certain Reinhold was not hurt except for minor bruises and lacerations. However, he had vomited blood twice during the day, and internal injuries might develop, it was said.

The Fricke house was wrecked, part of the floor of the room in which Rino slept being blown through the roof, all the windows broken, the flooring and underpinning and foundation of the house all over its five rooms being torn loose, and the walls bulged loose at the bottoms. The furniture was wrecked.

WOMEN'S CLUB OF TABOR MET AT HOME OF MRS. W. G. COLSON

TABOR, Mar. 18.—The Women's Club held their regular meeting Wednesday, March 11, at the home of Mrs. W. G. Colson, only a few ladies were present, Miss Roten being one of the number. Gardening was the main topic though several others were discussed. Each member present decided to plant at least two new vegetables. We do not mean new to everybody but new ones to be planted. A report is to be made of them in the fall. We would like for every lady in this community to do likewise; select vegetables you have never raised and plant two new ones. We would also like for every lady who can possibly do so to attend our next meeting on Wednesday, April 8th, at 2:30 o'clock at Mrs. W. G. Colson's residence, at which we will learn to prepare some new vegetable dishes, as well as serve a salad course to all present. —A MEMBER.

GIRLS CLUB MEETING

The club girls held their regular meeting Monday afternoon. Several girls were absent but each girl present brought her sewing and a real pep meeting was held. Most of our girls are finishing up their sewing. Everyone seems interested in their work, each trying to beat the other, and by so doing we find we do not only get more of our work done, but we do it better, thus gaining more knowledge of sewing—something we ought to be proud of.
Tabor's girls' club has more than twice as many members this year than last, which is positive proof that more girls are interested in club work. Miss Roten was present and brought us books on sewing, and gave us much useful instruction on sewing and club work.

RESCUE OF THIRTY-FOUR ENTOMBED MINERS EXPECTED THIS AFTERNOON

Telegram Received by Governor Gore of West Virginia Describes the Situation as "Very Bad"—Impossible to Tell if Any of Men in Mine are Still Alive—Explosion Occurred Last Night.

(By Associated Press).
FAIRMONT, West Va., March 18.—Hope of reaching the 34 men entombed in mine No. 4 of the Bethlehem Mines Corporation at Barracksville, three miles west of here, sometime this afternoon, was expressed by members of rescue parties, who entered the mine this morning after the explosion which occurred last night. A telegram to Governor Gore said it was impossible to yet tell whether any of the imprisoned miners would be found alive. The telegram described the situation as very bad. It was later announced by those in charge of the rescue work that they did not believe the entombed miners could be reached before tonight.

H. RUSSELL M'INNIS LLANO, DIED MONDAY --L. L. M'INNIS HOME

Major L. L. McInnis, vice president of the First National Bank of this city, returned last night from Llano, where he was called on last Thursday, March 12th, on account of the very serious illness of his brother, H. Russell McInnis. H. R. McInnis passed away at the family home there Monday afternoon and was laid to rest in the Llano cemetery Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Prince, pastor of the Llano Presbyterian church, conducting the funeral services. Deceased was in his 86th year, and although advanced in age, was still active in business, and one of the leading citizens of his community. For more than twenty-five years he had held the important office of county judge of Llano county, which office he filled to the time of his death. A lawyer of prominence, a business man of unusual ability, a loyal Christian and church member, a devoted father, husband, and friend, H. R. McInnis held a place of honor and high esteem in the hearts of all the people.

H. R. McInnis was born in 1839 at the old plantation home of the McInnis family in Mississippi, which lies between Jackson and New Orleans. He studied law when a very young man, and after many years of law practice in Mississippi came to Texas and continued in his chosen profession with marked ability and success.

Deceased is survived by his wife, three sons and three daughters. Many who knew him during his frequent visits to his brother, L. L. McInnis and family in Bryan will regret to learn of his passing away, and will extend to Mr. McInnis and family sincere sympathy in their bereavement.

TORNADO SWEEPS ONE KANSAS COUNTY

AN INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET OPEN TO ALL CONTESTANTS AT A. M. APRIL 25

(Special to Bryan Daily Eagle).
COLLEGE STATION, Mar. 18.—After being abandoned for two years, the A. and M. College of Texas has revived the interscholastic meet for high schools and academies and the Athletic Council has appointed Frank G. Anderson, track coach of the Aggies to make the arrangements for the meet to be held on April 25. Every high school and academy track man who is a bona fide student of the institution is eligible for competition. Awards of gold, silver and bronze medals will be given the contestants who place in the meet, and there will be the same number of events as in a regular conference dual meet, excepting the two-mile run.
The moving up of the date of the dual meet with Rice Institute from April 25 to April 23, makes the holding of the interscholastic meet possible. The meets heretofore have been very successful and a great deal of interest has been manifested by high schools and academies.
There will be no division of A and B classes, and all track men will be admitted on the same footing. Arrangements for the entertainment of the visiting high school and academy men are being made, but under the conference rulings, no railroad fare will be refunded.
The meet is not an invitation one, but is open to every man eligible for high school competition. It would be impossible for the authorities of A. and M. College to send invitations to every high school and academy, so the announcement of the meet is to serve as invitation. Coaches and track managers are asked to write to Frank Anderson at A. and M. College for entrance blanks if they desire to enter the meet.
Elmer C. Brockman went to Houston last night on a short business trip. Mr. and Mrs. Brockman now make their home at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Beal on West 24th street.

COURSE IN PECAN CULTURE

Frank O. Martin tells us in Farm and Ranch that the chief method followed by Dean E. J. Kyle of the School of Agriculture, A. and M. College of Texas, in pursuing his ideal of having every one of the 100,000,000 native pecan trees in Texas bear first-class, marketable pecans in profitable quantities is to prepare the greatest possible number of students during their school days to do the practical work of budding or "top-working" the native trees with scions from the best varieties of pecans. In this way he carries to the limit what he teaches, writes and lectures.

Eight years ago, the dean organized a course in pecan culture, which until today is the only course devoted exclusively to the growing of pecans in the world. From this course by Dean Kyle, which may be said to include the theory and practice work of pecan culture, have come some of the most successful professional men in the pecan business today. County agents of some of the leading pecan-producing counties are today applying the experience gained in this course with great value to the citizens of their county. One county agent alone, among this group of graduates, last year put out more than 30,000 buds. Another graduate is supervising an irrigated 10,000-acre pecan orchard in the Medina irrigation district and others are similarly employed.

The reader will agree with us without a moment's hesitation that Dean Kyle is worth while. Could this paper have its way, the dean would be the highest-salaried man of the teaching profession in Texas.—Waco Times-Herald.

FLOWER EXCHANGES

Many of the towns and larger cities are forming Plant Exchange Stations and in this way are helping to promote a "flower city campaign." The stations are conducted by neighborhood organizations. Every person in the neighborhood brings to the Exchange Station all the surplus plants they may have and exchange for those they haven't and besides in this way plants can be furnished without cost to those who haven't them. This plan not only helps to spread the planting of flowers but it builds up an acquaintance and interest which can not but make for the building of a more beautiful town. Every citizen certainly has a responsibility with reference to making the town attractive and this responsibility is equal on all. The sooner all the people recognize this obligation and do their best in the way of co-operation we will have a city beautiful. Let's study our possibilities and do our utmost this year to make every available open space in Bryan attractive to the eye. Why not? It certainly is more satisfactory to live in a pretty town.

SHERIFF JESS CONLEE BRINGS BACK TO BRYAN WILLIAM TAYLOR CAR

On Wednesday of last week Sheriff Jess Conlee left for the oil field districts of Limestone and adjoining counties, bent on locating some of the stolen cars on his list. He returned to Brazos county on Sunday night, having sent home the Buick stolen from Houston and the Taylor car stolen from Bryan some weeks ago. He visited the sections in the oil field district with Deputy Sheriff Cal Beard of Groesbeck. The man who is alleged to have stolen the Bill Taylor car is in the Groesbeck jail and will not be returned here for trial as they have sufficient evidence against him.

COL. AND MRS. MILLS WRITE FROM FRANCE

Mrs. M. W. Sims has this week received a letter from her daughter, Mrs. Chas. F. Mills of Corsicana, who with Col. Mills is touring Europe. The letter was written from Paris, and tells of their safe arrival at Havre, France, after a stormy voyage across the Atlantic. Mrs. Mills wrote of the violence of the storms that lashed their great ocean liner, tossing it too and fro. She said that if you dared stand, you were thrown with such force to the floor, over your chair, or against some piece of the ship's furnishings, that you did not try the venture again. However, the trip was a successful one, despite the wild winds, and Col. and Mrs. Mills are enjoying Paris and other interesting cities in France. A steady down pour of rain since the day of their arrival has kept them indoors, and Mrs. Mills, was wishing that some of the rain "from Paris" might be transferred to the farm lands of dear old Brazos County, Texas.

VICTORY OF THE EDGE BLUE RIBBON FORTY CLUB IN 1924

(By J. Wellington Brink in Farm and Ranch)

Community building. Sounds like the motto of a chamber of commerce, doesn't it? Or a business men's luncheon club. One mind naturally focusses on billboard and magazine advertising, chest drives, high-pressure activities.

Yet never was there a more effective public servant, with community building as its avowed objective than the boys' and girls' club known as the Edge Blue Ribbon Forty. This club is only three years old, but it stands today as Texas champions in its class. It is district and sweepstakes winner in the big $1,000 Farm and Ranch contest of 1924.

The secretary, N. Ruth Hill, summarizes some of this organization's achievements as follows: "During the three years we have been in club work our conception of the work has grown in ever-widening circles. Our first big achievement was concluded when our new auditorium and modern tearage were built on our five-acre campus. Then, when we won fifteen out of the seventeen prizes at our first county wide exhibit and in the interscholastic athletic league at A. and M. College, when we won all loving cups, first prizes and most of the second prizes, we got a still bigger vision of what club work can mean in a community.

"Then our mothers and older sisters organized the woman's club. This club is doing things itself now. It gave us a new $600 piano this spring. Now the men have organized the men's club. When they get going we will have a new chapter to write in our history.

"And all this has come as some of the results of our work. So our conception of club work now is community building."

The Young Citizens Lead.

And a little child shall lead them! But, of course, that doesn't mean that some of the elders didn't have a hand in this boys' and girls' club work, right from the start. Edge Forty youngsters were wise in their selection of parents, teachers and neighbors. P. S. Mangum, teacher at the Edge school, took off his coat and rolled up his sleeves long before the work itself became warm. He and his wife didn't confine their leadership to the classroom. They freely gave of their time, their thought, and their enthusiasm. And so did C. L. Beason, Brazos county agricultural agent, and Laura B. Roten, home demonstration agent, of the wonder-working agricultural college extension service. The live local newspaper, The Bryan Eagle, has a boys' and girls club department and regularly supports the activities of new generation of ruralists.

Edge Celebrates Triumph.

On Friday evening, January 30th, prominent figures from over Brazos county, officials of the A. and M. College of Texas, and Frank A. Briggs, editor of Farm and Ranch, gathered at Edge to do honor to the champions. The accomplishment of the club as reviewed. The boys and girls, together with the local school trustees and others instrumental in bringing about victory, were toasted. And a good time was had by all.

The yearbook compiled by this juvenile club—an elaborate affair bound in gold-stamped blue leather—constitutes an epic tale of pastoral progress. Profusely illustrated with intimate photographs of members at work and at play, and adorned with gold seals, blue ribbons and blue-starred borders, it is truly a thing of beauty and a joy forever. It is the culminating touch to a year of unprecedented success—the gratuitous accomplishment of the club secretary and co-operating associates. To scan this book is to heighten one's appreciation of, and respect for, the organized work of rural boys and girls.

Won by Narrow Margin.

How did Edge win? By a nose. By a hair's breadth. By an eyelash. Well, anyway, the race was mighty close. All the more glory to the tapobreakers! The competition was hot, the company fast, and every competing club—there were 184 of them—did wonderfully well. Peter's Prairie, Mason county, came within 1.2 per cent of equalling Edge.

Edge enrolled nearly all the youth of the community who were eligible to membership, scoring 4.3 out of the 5 possible points thereby. Thirty-seven were on the roll.

One hundred per cent of the membership were present at every meeting throughout the year, and a perfect score of 15 was tacked up.

Every individual record book was properly filled out, and handed in within the prescribed time, another perfect score of 20 being registered. Every boy and girl had a complete project at the club show, thereby ringing up one more perfect score for the club destined to win.

These splendid efforts, together with the high average grade of record books submitted and the excellent report of the secretary, combined to pile up a total of 94.6—which was enough to best the next nearest competitor.

Edge boys and girls had to be pretty good farmers and farmerites to win. Club totals show the following: Poultry—cash received $565.20, cash paid out $113.35, profit $451.85; livestock—cash received $208.60, cash paid out $156.53, profit $52.07; crops—cash received $1,713.45, cash paid out $380.27, profit $1,333.18; canning—cash received $102.30, cash paid out $32.74, profit $69.56. All projects, taken together, showed $2,589.55 cash received, $682.89 cash paid out, and $1,906.66 profit.

Typical Country Youngsters.

These young folks are typical bright farm products. They are all tremendously busy during the crop season. They do their full share of helping dad and mother, squeezing in club project work between times. They are conscientious bookkeepers and charge standard prices for their own labor, as well as for any other labor that they may engage.

Some of the conclusions that club members deduct from their experiences would do credit to older heads. Take, for instance, Floyd Moore, who says: "If a man works and is careful, raises a crop, buys for cash and does not turn against old debts, he need not worry about hard times."

The new president of the Edge club, George Blazek, has a sane view of his participation in the organization activities: "I chose cotton for one of my two projects because it is the best money maker in this part of Texas. I expect to go to college some day and pay my way through. So I have started to make the money for myself. I think club work is a fine thing for a farm boy or girl, for it starts them off in the right path of scientific farming."

T. W. George, whose principal interest last year was corn, tells of his project in words that belong only to a sure-enough all-around boy such as he is:

"My acre plot for corn was a cane stubble patch, which I bedded with a fourteen-inch middle buster.

"Fun? I reckon. You just ought to have seen me break it! It would have been funny to you, but it was anything else but funny to me. Sometimes it seemed I was under the middle buster—then it was under me. But the dirt flew.

"Finally, in about two hours, I finished my job with the beds in fairly good shape.

"About three weeks later, after plenty of rain had fallen to firm the soil, I cut the beds with a sixteen-inch solid sweep, set flat on a Georgia stock, and followed with a walking planter in a shallow water furrow.

"When the corn was about two weeks old, I ran around it with two plows on cultivator. About one week later I thinned it.

"In a few more days I plowed it again with a cultivator, and in ten days more again used the cultivator with larger plows.

"I next used a turn plow to lay my corn by, following in the middles with a twenty-inch solid sweep set flat.

"When the tops were well-ripened I cut them for feed. October first I harvested my corn.

A Stinging Lizard. The only incident of note was a big stinging lizard that stung me on the hand. If you ever had a stinging lizard sting you, you can imagine the jigs I danced for a little while.

"Thirty-six bushels of corn is not a very big crop for an acre, but thirty-six bushels made on thirty-six buckets of water is not bad, I think. If I could have had a little more water I could have made a little more corn, I am sure.

"But why worry now? Here are my best wishes for every fellow who is chasing his luck in cobs and shucks."

Calves and pigs are mighty serious things to young owners of Edge. They become sick and have to be doctored. They are to be exhibited at the Edge fair, and must be brushed and manicured and arranged to look their best. Now and then one of the pets breaks out of the pen and causes no end of worry and trouble.

Mildred Cross, a fourteen-year old, writes: "One day my calf and her mother were missing. We went out to hunt her, but failed to find her.

The animals were gone a week. When we found them the mother was bogged down in a tank. The calf was so weak it could hardly stand. I carried it home in my arms. It weighed about seventy-five pounds and I had to rest all along the road. But I fed it up, and now it is a fine large calf."

Of course none of the youngsters are encouraged toward mischief-making, but in retrospect there are many incidents that are thoroughly mirth-provoking. Take the case of George Leighman, who was driven almost to desperation by repeated thefts of his precious watermelons.

He tells it himself: "One night I heard a noise down at my watermelon patch. I got my gun and loaded it with peas. I got pretty close to the boys and shot them. I was really closer than I thought, for the boys hollered when I hit them.

"I had about twenty nice melons left. I went down there the next morning and two were gone. I told my folks I was going to put some melons in my melons. I slipped some into two. My guardian went to get a melon later and he got one of these. We had company and they all ate it. I fed the other one to the hogs. It pays to leave a boy's watermelon patch alone."

These harmless pranks might have turned into tragedies, and George doubtless, will be too busy and to mature next season to repeat them.

Prize Stimulated Work.

The $1,000 offered as prizes by Farm and Ranch had, from all reports the effect of making the 1924 club work mean more than it ever has before to the 6,640 sturdy boys and girls who participated. County agents all over the State tell of the enthusiasm, the patience and the grit that animated these young folks to do their best.

Edge may have had the edge indeed scoring. But it cannot claim to have had a monopoly on those qualities that go into the making of noble men and women.

TWO FIRE ALARMS TODAY—DAMAGE IS VERY SMALL

This morning about 7 o'clock a fire alarm was turned in from the Burton Bruce home on West 26th street, caused from a defective flue. The house is owned by Jim Godwin. Little damage resulted. With a good attendance on a changed meeting night, the day having been set a night ahead of regular schedule on account of church having been dated for Saturday, the Reliance community club met at the church on Friday night and enjoyed a social evening and the fine program presented. Miss Essie Shealey, the club secretary, had charge of a fine program which the school presented in recitations, readings and plays, which was interspersed with talks by Bryan people present.

Oak McKenzie, county attorney, was the first of the Bryan visitors called upon and he gave a splendid talk on "Boyhood Days," and the necessity for appreciating a "golden youth" and enjoying life from day to day and living lives to a worthy end.

what on his school days in the country school house, told of the work of service clubs and the Lions Club in particular, which he represented, and of the great value of community clubs.

County Agent Beason gave a combined school teacher's lecture and sermon on agriculture, telling the farmers of that community many pertinent facts with regard to the raising of better crops of fewer acres and the methods of doing this, to the best results.

J. Marion Ferguson told of his school days at Reliance and of the ambitions of townspeople and country people being similar. He promised the citizens of Reliance and the members of the community club that they would find the service clubs and other people of Bryan ready and willing to lend assistance, morally and financially, to the things they might wish to undertake.

H. D. Cuykendall of the Bryan Eagle gave a reading for the entertainment of those present, after he had made some humorous remarks applicable to the occasion. J. Coulter Smith begged off on his talk but his spirit seemed to be present and his heart with the country people.

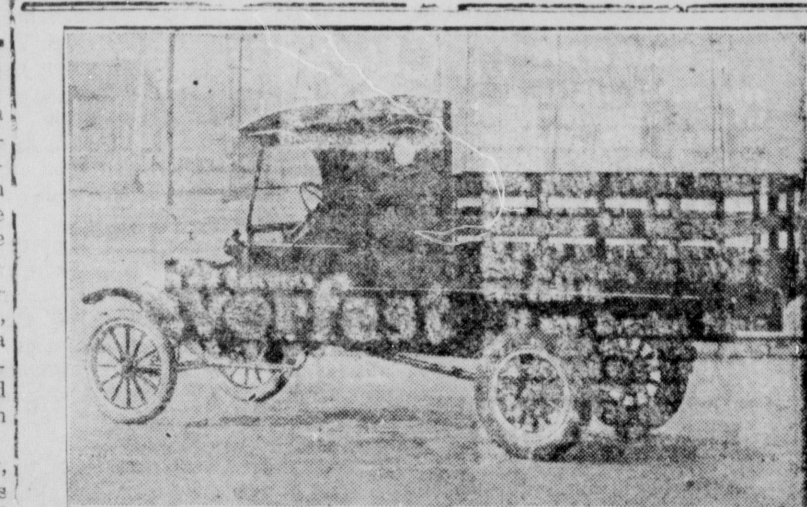

S. E. Eberstadt gave a fine talk as is customary by this versatile secretary, being a talk on learning to be able to talk in public as a very important part of child life and the part that the Chamber of Commerce takes in promoting better conditions on the farm and better agriculture in Brazos county.

Some fine music was rendered by the quartet from Reliance community, Miss Essie Shealey, George Johnson and two Hudson boys.

At the close of the meeting, H. D. Cuykendall put on an innovation and sold in prize packages 7 subscriptions to the Bryan Weekly Eagle.

COURSE IN PECAN CULTURE

Frank O. Martin tells us in Farm and Ranch that the chief method followed by Dean E. J. Kyle of the School of Agriculture, A. and M. College of Texas, in pursuing his ideal of having every one of the 100,000,000 native pecan trees in Texas bear first-class, marketable pecans in profitable quantities is to prepare the greatest possible number of students during their school days to do the practical work of budding or "top-working" the native trees with scions from the best varieties of pecans. In this way he carries to the limit what he teaches, writes and lectures.

Eight years ago, the dean organized a course in pecan culture, which until today is the only course devoted exclusively to the growing of pecans in the world. From this course by Dean Kyle, which may be said to include the theory and practice work of pecan culture, have come some of the most successful professional men in the pecan business today. County agents of some of the leading pecan-producing counties are today applying the experience gained in this course with great value to the citizens of their county. One county agent alone, among this group of graduates, last year put out more than 30,000 buds. Another graduate is supervising an irrigated 10,000-acre pecan orchard in the Medina irrigation district and others are similarly employed.

The reader will agree with us without a moment's hesitation that Dean Kyle is worth while. Could this paper have its way, the dean would be the highest-salaried man of the teaching profession in Texas.—Waco Times-Herald.

FLOWER EXCHANGES

Many of the towns and larger cities are forming Plant Exchange Stations and in this way are helping to promote a "flower city campaign." The stations are conducted by neighborhood organizations. Every person in the neighborhood brings to the Exchange Station all the surplus plants they may have and exchange for those they haven't and besides in this way plants can be furnished without cost to those who haven't them. This plan not only helps to spread the planting of flowers but it builds up an acquaintance and interest which can not but make for the building of a more beautiful town. Every citizen certainly has a responsibility with reference to making the town attractive and this responsibility is equal on all. The sooner all the people recognize this obligation and do their best in the way of co-operation we will have a city beautiful. Let's study our possibilities and do our utmost this year to make every available open space in Bryan attractive to the eye. Why not? It certainly is more satisfactory to live in a pretty town.

SHERIFF JESS CONLEE BRINGS BACK TO BRYAN WILLIAM TAYLOR CAR

On Wednesday of last week Sheriff Jess Conlee left for the oil field districts of Limestone and adjoining counties, bent on locating some of the stolen cars on his list. He returned to Brazos county on Sunday night, having sent home the Buick stolen from Houston and the Taylor car stolen from Bryan some weeks ago. He visited the sections in the oil field district with Deputy Sheriff Cal Beard of Groesbeck. The man who is alleged to have stolen the Bill Taylor car is in the Groesbeck jail and will not be returned here for trial as they have sufficient evidence against him.

COL. AND MRS. MILLS WRITE FROM FRANCE

Mrs. M. W. Sims has this week received a letter from her daughter, Mrs. Col. F. Mills of Corsicana, who with Chas. Mills is touring Europe. The letter was written from Paris, and tells of their safe arrival at Havre, France, after a stormy voyage across the Atlantic. Mrs. Mills wrote of the violence of the storms that lashed their great ocean liner, tossing it too and fro. She said that if you dared stand, you were thrown with such force to the floor, over your chair, or against some piece of the ship's furnishings, that you did not try the venture again. However, the trip was a successful one, despite the wild winds, and Col. and Mrs. Mills are enjoying Paris and other interesting cities in France. A steady down pour of rain since the day of their arrival has kept them indoors, and Mrs. Mills, was wishing that some of the rain "from Paris" might be transferred to the farm lands of dear old Brazos County, Texas.

VICTORY OF THE EDGE BLUE RIBBON FORTY CLUB IN 1924

(By J. Wellington Brink in Farm and Ranch)

Community building. Sounds like the motto of a chamber of commerce, doesn't it? Or a business men's luncheon club. One's mind naturally focusses on billboard and magazine advertising, chest drives, high-pressure activities.

Yet never was there a more effective public servant, with community building as its avowed objective than the boys' and girls' club known as the Edge Blue Ribbon Forty. This club is only three years old, but it stands today as Texas champions in its class. It is district and sweepstakes winner in the big $1,000 Farm and Ranch contest of 1924.

The secretary, N. Ruth Hill, summarizes some of this organization's achievements as follows:

"During the three years we have been in club work our conception of the work has grown in ever-widening circles. Our first big achievement was concluded when our new auditorium and modern teacherage were built on our five-acre campus. Then, when we won fifteen out of the seventeen prizes at our first county wide exhibit and in the interscholastic athletic league at A. and M. College, when we won all loving cups, first prizes and most of the second prizes, we got a still bigger vision of what club work can mean in a community.

"Then our mothers and older sisters organized the woman's club. This club is doing things itself now. It gave us a new $600 piano this spring. Now the men have organized the men's club. When they get going we will have a new chapter to write in our history.

"And all this has come as some of the results of our work. So our conception of club work now is community building."

The Young Citizens Lead.

And a little child shall lead them! But, of course, that doesn't mean that some of the elders didn't have a hand in this boys' and girls' club work, right from the start. Edge Forty youngsters were wise in their selection of parents, teachers and neighbors. P. S. Mangum, teacher at the Edge school, took off his coat and rolled up his sleeves long before the work itself became warm. He and his wife didn't confine their leadership to the classroom. They freely gave of their time, their thought, and their enthusiasm. And so did C. L. Beason, Brazos county agricultural agent, and Laura B. Roten, home demonstration agent, of the wonder-working agricultural college extension service. The live local newspaper, The Bryan Eagle, has a boys' and girls club department and regularly supports the activities of new generation of ruralists.

Edge Celebrates Triumph.

On Friday evening, January 30th, prominent figures from over Brazos county, officials of the A. and M. College of Texas, and Frank A. Briggs, editor of Farm and Ranch, gathered at Edge to do honor to the champions. The accomplishment of the club as reviewed. The boys and girls, together with the local school trustees and others instrumental in bringing about victory, were toasted. And a good time was had by all.

The yearbook compiled by the club—constitutes an epic tale of pastoral progress. Profusely illustrated with intimate photographs of members at work and at play, and adorned with gold seals, blue ribbons and blue-starred borders, it is truly a thing of beauty and a joy forever. It is the culminating touch to a year of unprecedented success—the gratuitous accomplishment of the club secretary and co-operating associates. To scan this book is to heighten one's appreciation of, and respect for, the organized work of rural boys and girls.

Won by Narrow Margin.

How did Edge win? By a nose. By a hair's breadth. By an eyelash. Well, anyway, the race was mighty close. All the more glory to the tape-breakers! The competition was hot, the company fast, and every competing club—there were 184 of them—did wonderfully well. Peter's Prairie, Mason county, came within 1.2 per cent of equalling Edge.

Edge enrolled nearly all the youth of the community who were eligible to membership, scoring 4.3 out of the 5 possible points thereby. Thirty-seven were on the roll.

One hundred per cent of the membership were present at every meeting throughout the year, and a perfect score of 15 was tacked up.

Every individual record book was properly filled out, and handed in within the prescribed time, another perfect score of 20 being registered. Every boy and girl had a complete project at the club show, thereby ringing up one more perfect score for the club destined to win.

These splendid efforts, together with the high average grade of record books submitted and the excellent report of the secretary, combined to pile up a total of 94.6—which was enough to best the next nearest competitor.

Edge boys and girls had to be pretty good farmers and farmerites to win. Club totals show the following: Poultry—cash received $565.20, cash paid out $113.35, profit $451.85; livestock—cash received $208.60, cash paid out $156.53, profit $52.07; crops—cash received $1,713.45, cash paid out $380.27, profit $1,333.18; canning—cash received $102.30, cash paid out $32.74, profit $69.56. All projects, taken together, showed $2,589.55 cash received, $682.89 cash paid out, and $1,906.66 profit.

Typical Country Youngsters.

These young folks are typical bright farm products. They are all tremendously busy during the crop season. They do their full share of helping dad and mother, squeezing in club project work between times. They are conscientious bookkeepers, and charge standard prices for their own labor, as well as for any other labor that they may engage.

Some of the conclusions that club members deduct from their experiences would do credit to older heads. Take, for instance, Floyd Moore, who says: "If a man works and is careful, raises a crop, buys for cash, and does not turn against old debts, he need not worry about hard times."

The new president of the Edge club, George Blazek, has a sane view of his participation in the organization activities: "I chose cotton for one of my two projects because it is the best money maker in this part of Texas. I expect to go to college some day and pay my way through, so I have started to make the money for myself. I think club work is a fine thing for a farm boy or girl, for it starts them off in the right path of scientific farming."

T. W. George, whose principal interest last year was corn, tells of his project in words that belong only to a sure-enough all-round boy such as he is:

"My acre plat for corn was a cane stubble patch, which I bedded with a fourteen-inch middle buster.

"Fun? I reckon. You just ought to have seen me break it! It would have been funny to you, but it was anything else but funny to me. Sometimes it seemed I was under the middle buster—then it was under me. But the dirt flew.

"Finally, in about two hours, I finished my job with the beds in fairly good shape.

"About three weeks later, after plenty of rain had fallen to firm the soil, I cut the beds with a sixteen-inch stock sweep, set flat on a George stock, and followed with a walking planter in a shallow water furrow.

"When the corn was about two weeks old, I ran around it with two plows on cultivator. About one week later I thinned it.

"In a few more days I plowed it again with a cultivator, and in ten days more again used the cultivator with larger plows.

"I next used a turn plow to lay my corn by, following in the middles with a twenty-inch solid sweep set flat.

"When the tops were well-ripened I cut them for feed. October first I harvested my corn.

A Stinging Lizard.

"The only incident of note was a big stinging lizard that stung me on the hand. If you ever had a stinging lizard sting you, you can imagine the jigs I danced for a little while.

"Thirty-six bushels of corn is not a very big crop for an acre, but thirty-six bushels made on thirty-six buckets of water is not bad, I think. If I could have had a little more water, I could have made a little more corn, I am sure.

"But why worry now? 'Here are my best wishes for every fellow who is chasing his luck in cobs and shucks.'

Calves and pigs are mighty serious things to young owners of Edge. They become sick and have to be doctored. They are to be exhibited at the Edge fair, and must be brushed and manicured and arranged to look their best. Now and then one of the sets breaks out of the pen and causes no end of worry and trouble.

Mildred Cross, a fourteen-year-old, writes: "One day my calf and her mother were missing. We went out to hunt her, but failed to find her.

The animals were gone a week. When we found them the mother was bogged down in a tank. The calf was so weak it could hardly stand. I carried it home in my arms. It weighed about seventy-five pounds and I had to rest all along the road. But I fed it up, and now it is a fine large calf."

Of course none of the youngsters are encouraged toward mischief-making, but in retrospect there are many incidents that are thoroughly mirth-provoking. Take the case of George Leighman, who was driven almost to desperation by repeated thefts of his precious watermelons.

He tells it himself: "One night I heard a noise down at my watermelon patch. I got my my gun and loaded it with peas. I got pretty close to the boys and shot them. I was really closer than I thought, for the boys hollered when I hit them."

"I had about twenty nice melons left. I went down there the next morning and two were gone. I told my folks I was going to put some peacocks in my melons. I slipped some into two. My guardian went to get a melon later and he got one of these. We had company and they all ate it. I fed the other one to the hogs. It pays to leave a boy's watermelon patch alone."

These harmless pranks might have turned into tragedies, and George doubtless, will be too busy and too mature next season to repeat them.

Prize Stimulated Work.

The $1,000 offered as prizes by Farm and Ranch had, from all reports the effect of making the 1924 club work mean more than it ever has before to the 6,640 sturdy boys and girls who participated. County agents all over the State tell of the enthusiasm, the patience and the grit that animated these young folks to do their best.

Edge may have had the edge indeed scoring. But it cannot claim to have had a monopoly on those qualities that go into the making of noble men and women.

DELPHIAN CLUB OF BRYAN ENJOYED SPLENDID BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

"All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players; they have their exits and their entrances, and one man in his time plays many parts."

Drama finds its place most fittingly in the great routine of study, as it is inimitable in its convincing method of correlating itself with the reality of human deeds and impulses; and the fact that the course of study of 1924-25 prescribed for the Delphian chapters was based on "drama" made it possible for the members to observe the second anniversary of the organization of the Bryan chapter with an open meeting, using as the chief feature of the program the enacting of a play, "The Learned Ladies," by Moliere. Three o'clock was the appointed hour for the assembling of the members and guests, consisting of various clubs of Bryan and College, who were most cordially welcomed by Mesdames Thomas Lundin, John Allen, M. Francis, W. S. Higgs, Paul Dansby, Horace Ferguson, R. S. Mawhinney and S. E. Eberstadt, the last named hostess distributing programs on which were given the literary personnel of the play, but omitting the names of the "local actresses" who enacted the various parts. The guests were told that during the progress of the play they were to supply the names of the masked players on the program.

Directed by Mrs. Lundin. The stage was most appropriately arranged and decorated with all the accessories necessary for the proper setting and background of the play and everything proved most conducive to its successful rendering. The assembly room also was transformed into a scene of loveliness with the arrangement of potted plants, cut flowers and floor lamps reflecting a harmonious glow that was most pleasing in effect. After the assembling of the guests the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Thomas Lundin, under whose direction the play was given. She ably emphasized the importance of the Delphian movement and gave many evidences of the cultural benefit derived from the pursuance of the course of study in the bi-monthly programs.

Organization and interpretation of the insignia were designated as the basis of the classical attainment as promoted by the course of study, and in every word Mrs. Lundin proved her intense interest and love for the work.

Personnel of Cast. After this, the play was announced and from beginning to end the interest never lagged, partly because of the splendid acting of the cast and partly because of the constant alertness on the part of the audience to ascertain "just who this one was and just who that one was." From cook to poet, the players proved most successful in their portrayal of the characters assigned them and each one received due applause and commendation from those present. The program was concluded with the players unmasked passing singly before the audience in order that their proper identity might be ascertained and they proved to be: Alice Wanglin, Mrs. W. H. Darrow; Harriet Wanglin, Mrs. Lamar Jones; Mrs. Langford, Mrs. M. R. Bentley; Mrs. Wanglin, Mrs. Henry McMeekin; Hedda, Miss Caroline Kern; Elvira, Mrs. H. P. Smith; Clyde Stickman, Mrs. G. L. Crawford. Guests in the play were Mesdames Harriet Stone, S. E. Cavitt, R. M. Dansby, David Reid, W. M. Owens, and Misses Kern and Annie Dearing. It was found that Mrs. Edgar Jones had named them all correctly, so she was presented with a lovely memorandum book in black and gold, the chapter colors, as a reward for her effort.

A social hour was enjoyed and the birthday idea was most appropriately used in serving the guests. As it was a Delphian birthday, twelve tables were arranged in the center of which miniature representations suggestive of each month were placed and the guests seated at the tables representing the month of their birth. On the plates were served orange brick ice cream, angel food cake with orange icing and delicious mints, triangular in shape, in orange and black.

Thanks for Assistance. Upon the departure of the guests, Mrs. Lundin and other Delphian members were assured repeatedly of the enjoyment afforded by the lovely affair and the marked success of the play.

The above minutes of the last meeting of the Bryan Delphian chapter were read at their regular meeting on Friday, the 13th, in the club rooms by the secretary, Mrs. R. M. Dansby, and all the members showed their appreciation of the splendid description of the guest day meeting by giving Mrs. Dansby a rising vote of thanks.

The president in a pleasing manner expressed her gratitude to all the members of the cast, to those who arranged the tables, and to the decoration committee for their cheerful, whole-hearted and enthusiastic assistance in making their birthday party a success. Special notes of thanks were written E. F. Parks, who so kindly furnished the living room suite and floor lamps for the stage setting and to Mrs. R. R. Lancaster for the stage drapes.

Mrs. Darrow Leader. The lesson of the day on "English Dramatists of the Restoration," was introduced by a comprehensive and instructive talk on the historical and political background of the 18th century by the leader, Mrs. W. H. Darrow; after which dramatic readings were given from Congreve's comedy, "The Double Dealer," by Mrs. R. J. Newland, and the duel scene from Sheridan's "The Rivals" by Mrs. George Eisert. Text reports on Sheridan's life by Mrs. David Reid and "The Early English Actors" by Mrs. M. W. Owens opened discussion on the question, "Why the Restoration Drama Ceased to be National." Revivals of "The Rivals" and "School for Scandal" are being performed in this country today and pictures were introduced showing noted performers in the leading roles. During the lesson, one of the members produced an old program giving the names of Joseph Jefferson as Sir Lucius and William Jefferson as Bob Acres in an all-star cast of "The Rivals" as it was performed in the United States in 1907.

Two visitors, Mrs. George Barnes and Mrs. T. Stuart, were given hearty greetings by the members at the conclusion of the lesson. The next meeting will be March 20th, the lesson "German Drama," with Mrs. W. M. Owens as leader and Mrs. Chas. Wetter and Mrs. H. P. Smith as hostesses.

NOCTURNE

By Malcolm Graham McInnis
The flaming sunset fades and dies;
Night across the prairie creeps,
Close to the fragrant earth it lies,
Kissing each flower until it sleeps.

Ten thousand stars hang down their heads
From out the sky—dark blue and deep
They hang on glistening silver threads
And join the flowers in their sleep.

The moon to silver turns, from gold
And brings us a fairy day,
Whose mystic beauty faint must hold
Our wondering hearts beneath its sway.

Good Fellowship

COFFEE has, for at least four centuries, been a drink that made people think.

The coffee houses of France, England, Germany, Holland, Austria, Italy and Spain were the rendezvous of the thinkers and doers of those countries and are associated with the greatest works of literature, art, architecture, engineering and commerce.

In 1634, Sir Henry Blount, sometimes referred to as "The father of the English Coffee House," made a journey into the Levant. He was invited to drink cauphe in the presence of Amurath IV; and later, in Egypt, he tells of being served the beverage again "in a porcelain dish."

Describing coffee, Sir Henry said, "It is good at all hours of the day but especially morning and evening. It drenches all humours in the stomach, comforteth the brain, never causeth drunkenness or any other surfeit, and is a harmless entertainment of Good Fellowship."

G. L. CARNES ON VISIT TO OLD HOME TOWN AND FRIENDS AND KINFOLKS

G. L. Carnes, owner and manager of the Neches Printing and Paper Company of Beaumont, formerly a citizen of this city, where he was reared and trained in newspaper journalism on the Bryan Eagle, is visiting Bryan and College. He is at A. and M. for the week-end of training of the reserve officers of the 360th Infantry and spent his leisure hours with Mrs. Dona Carnes, his sister-in-law.

Mr. Carnes is the son of J. M. Carnes, senior partner in the firm of Carnes and Wallace, publishers, some years ago of the Bryan Eagle. He is also a brother of the late Malcolm Carnes, also editor of the Eagle, who died some 15 or 16 years ago. G. L. Carnes left Bryan in 1913 and went to Dallas and was connected for two years as traveling salesman with Barnhart Brothers and Spindler the Southwestern agent for the American Type Founders. He then went to Beaumont and for some time was a reporter for the Beaumont Enterprise.

During the war, Mr. Carnes was

Mr. Carnes is very optimistic as to the future of Beaumont, stating that the discovery of the new oil field at Liberty, which is a second "Spindletop," is greatly benefiting Beaumont, which is enjoying its second oil boom of considerable importance. He said that the new Liberty field now had five gushers and promised to be an unusually large and important Texas field.

Good Fellowship

COFFEE has, for at least four centuries, been a drink that made people think.

The coffee houses of France, England, Germany, Holland, Austria, Italy and Spain were the rendezvous of the thinkers and doers of those countries and are associated with the greatest works of literature, art, architecture, engineering and commerce.

In 1634, Sir Henry Blount, sometimes referred to as "The father of the English Coffee House," made a journey into the Levant. He was invited to drink cauphe in the presence of Amurath IV; and later, in Egypt, he tells of being served the beverage again "in a porcelain dish."

Describing coffee, Sir Henry said, "It is good at all hours of the day but especially morning and evening. It dresth all humours in the stomach, comforteth the brain, never causeth drunkenness or any other surfeit, and is a harmless entertainment of Good Fellowship."

BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB DEPARTMENT

Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason

Is A "Progressive" Farmer.

C. A. Schram, a prosperous and progressive farmer living in the Fickey community, states that one of the best moves he ever made on his farm was made when he began to terrace his land. He also states that the demonstration has been very helpful to his neighbors who become convinced as a result of the work on his farm, that terracing is effective in stopping soil washing. We used the word "progressive" in speaking of Mr. Schram, because about his place may be seen evidence corroborating such a word. Well-filled barns with home-made products, handy farm shop, a great flock of pure-bred White Wyandottes, registered bull at head of his herd of cattle, fine flock of Big Bronze turkeys, 25 of which sold for an average of $4 apiece on local market, a home orchard, etc, all tend to show what can be done on the farm. Recently Mr. Schram sold four calves at an average of $40 apiece, the only complaint the local butcher made being that they were too fat.

Five Farm Success Points.

In his "Success Talk for Farm Boys" in "Progressive Farmer," Clarence Poe offers the following five suggestions in his first letter: Learn something, earn something, save something, excel in something, and give something.

Aggies Been Club Boys.

Hoard's Dairyman quotes Dean Wilson of the Tennessee College of Agriculture as saying that 57 per cent of the new agricultural students have been members of boys' and girls' clubs.

Good Machinery Necessary.

Nearly every industry, except agriculture, is equipped with modern machinery and equipment sufficient to make possible the greatest efficiency. Planters, stalk cutters, harrows, hoes, good plows and ample power make good farming, and the lack of these things often accounts for poor crops.

Rotation Is Rotation.

Rotation in office is of less significance to the farmer than rotation of crops, at least it should be.

Business In Agriculture.

In a recent article in the Country Gentleman on "As Business Sees Agriculture," Richard F. Grant, president, Chamber of Commerce, United States, presents some wonderfully fine thought regarding the condition of agriculture. If all the directors of every chamber of commerce in the United States would read carefully the entire article it would certainly help to impress on the business men of this country a great field of service which could be rendered in bringing about a better understanding of the interdependence of business and agriculture. Mr. Grant states that because of diversity of output and conditions governing production, agriculture needs the application of business principles more than any other American industry. How far we are short of this is too obvious. He also calls attention to the fact that acreages planted to particular crops each year vary in direct ratio to the prices paid for such crops the previous year. Could anything be said that would better fit the practices of us cotton farmers? Texas farmer planted 14,000,000 acres of cotton in 1923. With a short crop prices went up, with the result that we planted 16,000,000 acres to cotton in 1924 and received $100,000,000 less than we received for the short crop the year before.

Work of Our Teachers.

In a recent issue of "Better Methods," published at Moultrie, Georgia, H. D. Cuykendall of the Bryan Eagle has a splendid story about the Edge Blue Ribbon "40" Boys' and Girls' Club. After all has been said concerning the achievements in club work there yet remains to be said that in addition to bringing about a better agriculture, the work has also served to develop leadership among rural teachers in everything conducive to rural progress and rural life betterment, and not merely a teacher of the printed page. The work of the Mangums in community work at Edge and the wonderful achievements of the Peter's Prairie Club of Mason county through the leadership of Miss Westbrook ought to serve to arouse all rural teachers to a sense of their great opportunities.

Know Poultry To Succeed.

There are seven varieties of Plymouth Rock, all identical, except in color. If you raise Barred Rocks, you should know both characteristic markings and disqualifications. Remember that two or more black primary feathers, or secondary feathers, or main tail feathers will disqualify. The general plumage is grayish white, each feather being crossed by distinct light and dark bars of equal width, and barring to extend full length of feather. The tip of each feather should be black, or dark. The new Standard of Perfection, which gives type in color, shape, etc. Take your best birds and make comparison with this in order that you may get well fixed in mind the ideal type of the Barred Rock. In addition to this you must know something of the principles underlying breeding—breeding for type and breeding for egg production. If you can not become interested in such work, or undertaking, then you better leave the job to some one else. Those starting out in the poultry business would do well to spend a day visiting the poultry farms of V. J. Boriskie, Mrs. R. Franz, Miss Mary Locke, and others in order to see just what can be done in the way of making the poultry business a success. One of the first impressions made on the visitor will be the intense interest of the owner in the management of the flock. This interest always seeks a solution to the many problems arising from time to time.

Millican Boys' and Girls' Club.

The Millican Boys' and Girls' Club has 28 members: 14 in poultry, 5 pig club members, 4 garden, 1 cotton, 1 baby beef, 1 sweet potato, 1 dairy calf, and 1 watermelon. Lillian Mills is president; Janie Ward, secretary, and Mrs. Vada Simpson, adult club leader. The club meets every first and third Tuesdays. The Millican club is headed for success.

LIONS CLUB HELD A RECORD LUNCHEON MEETING TUESDAY

The Tuesday noon luncheon of the Bryan Lions' Club at the Episcopal Parish was one that will long be remembered by the large number who were present. Not only was this a record meeting in point of attendance but from the things accomplished and the interest manifested. The meeting opened as usual with song, and other songs were sung with R. L. Brown and S. Moylan Bird leading, the latter being a special guest on the occasion. Rev. Bird also rendered two fine solos, the first "The Old Road," and as an encore, "Smilin' Through."

Lion J. Bryan Miller reported on the minutes of the last preceding meeting as assistant secretary for the club, which report was accepted. He then resigned his place, giving as his reason that he was always ready and willing to do anything that he might be asked and that he felt that more responsibility should be thrown to those who might be wont to shirk it, in order to "bring them out."

Chautauqua Discussed.

The club voted to accept the resignation for reasons given and upon motion of M. M. Erskine, which received a second, Harry Edge was elected by acclamation and the book and records turned over to him.

The club voted to endorse a communication from City Manager Miller with regard to skating on the city streets and the danger that children run in so doing. Lion Sholl, chairman of the committee for the proposed Easter egg hunt, reported that his committee had not met but would have things in shape to give out some information at the next meeting of the club.

A discussion of the coming Chautauqua program was then entered into by Lions Armstrong, Newton, Erskine, and others. It was voted that the Club give its endorsement to the Chautauqua and help in every way possible to put over the programs and the ticket sale with success.

Committee Is Named.

President C. A. Searcy thanked the committee that visited the Reliance community club meeting on last Friday night and stated that he had taken it upon himself to visit the book supper at Leonard school house the previous evening. In line with the club's policy of rural encouragement, President Searcy appointed Lions Parks, Edge and Ratcliff to go to the next community club meeting and all meetings in rural district prior to the next meeting of the Lions on next Tuesday noon.

The meeting was then turned over to Lion Spence who introduced H. H. House, director of physical education of the A. and M. College, who talked on "Hygiene." "The subject of 'Hygiene' does not seem to have many ramifications to the average man," said Coach House, "but it really means the care of the body and mind, though we usually think of it in terms of the body only. It is divided into five parts: Personal, or care of the individual body; public or community, which is the relation of the community to the individual and takes in quarantine, sewage disposal, and all things wherein one individual endangers the welfare of others; social or sex, which has to do with the social element of hygiene and is both personal and public in nature and also deals with moral issues; buildings, which deals with ventilation, lighting, etc., in our offices, workshops and homes; and last, but not least, mental, which is concerned with the mind."

Visitors Introduced.

Coach House then took up the different forms of mental disease, the different kinds of insanity, discussed psychology, psychoanalysis, and other things pertaining to the subject, in a most interesting manner of everyone present until the closing song.

R. E. Bosque and Tom Shealy were introduced as visitors.

COLORED SCHOOL OF BRYAN HAS CLOSED A MOST EVENTFUL WEEK

Saturday marked the close of an eventful week in the colored school. Tuesday brought to us Rev. Barnwell, who assured us that his visit was not accidental, but that he planned each year to make a trip to our school. The simple truths he presented were emphasized and made impressive by the use of illustrative placards and beautiful health songs. At the assembly period Wednesday morning, Dr. A. E. Thompson made us a talk. He explained the three common phases of nervousness, describing the causes and symptoms. The following parents were present: P. Brooks, L. Sharp and J. L. Thomas. Parents who come to visit us are always welcome; they get a better understanding of the real work of the school, and give encouragement to both pupils and teachers.

On Friday and Saturday the Inter-scholastic league of Brazos county held its session and the Bryan colored school enjoyed two days of successful competition. In the junior spelling contest Arthur Lokelton and George Agent, both sixth grade pupils, were the successful contestants. Audrey Hinton, a ninth grade pupil, won in the public speaking contest.

REV. UPTON WILL PREACH AT STEEP HOLLOW SUNDAY

Rev. L. C. Upton will preach at Steep Hollow next Sunday morning. The subject will be "God Looketh on the Heart." A short, but very important church conference will be held at 10:30, just preceding the morning service.

"PECAN DAY" IS SET FOR MAY 6 IN BRAZOS

Wednesday, May 6, has been set apart as pecan day in Brazos county, when demonstrations in pecan budding will be conducted in several communities of the county. Dean E. J. Kyle of the A. and M. College has kindly volunteered the services of senior students, specially trained in pecan budding, to assist in conducting the demonstrations on that day, three or more students taking charge of the groups in each community. Farmers and others interested in such work should attend the meetings and learn, not only how to put paper shell pecans on native trees, but also learn from the talks that may be made something of the wonderful possibilities of the pecan industry in Brazos county. There is no better pecan land in Texas than is found on Bee Creek, Cedar Creek, Brazos Bottoms and other rich, loamy lands of the county. Demonstrations will be conducted in Smetana community, Edge, Tabor, and perhaps other communities of the county, definite announcements being made later. Buds will be furnished free for each demonstration, those for whom the work will be done furnishing, in turn, dinner of spring chicken, turnip greens, corn bread, and good cold butter-milk, etc.

Ask your country agent how to prepare budding knives so you may be ready to join in the work of that day to the end that it may be indeed a red letter day for the pecan industry in old Brazos.

ONE OF BRYAN'S FINEST HOMES DESTROYED BY FIRE LAST NIGHT

BRYAN BOY WINS EDISON ESSAY CONTEST—IS STUDENT OF MASONIC HOME

Mrs. A. R. Sutton returned this morning from Fort Worth where she has been since last Friday visiting her sons, Ralph and Raynor, who are in the Masonic Orphans' Home. Mrs. Sutton is very proud of a badge of honor, or medal, which was won by Raynor for writing an essay on "Home Lighting," the medal bearing the bust of Edison and the inscription of how it was won and the recipient's name. Mrs. Sutton does not stint in her praise of the Masonic Home. She said that of three medals awarded to students of schools in Fort Worth, the Masonic Home won two of them, which is certainly creditable. While she cannot have the pleasure of keeping her boys at home, Mrs. Sutton says that she realizes they are receiving better care and training than she could possibly give them and is thereby gratified.

Martin, chief of police of Bryan, who is associated with the American Printing Company of Temple, and Miss Marjory Leona Scott, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Scott of Bryan, were quietly and informally married. The bride received many pretty gifts from her friends. Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left for Houston and Galveston for a short trip before returning to Temple where they will make their home. The groom is well-known in Bryan where he has lived and worked, and the bride has been for the past several months secretary to F. D. Fuller, chief of the Feed Control Service of the A. and M. Experiment Station. The attendants at the wedding were: Mrs. D. Paul Dansby and Miss Lois Martin, sisters of the groom, and Mrs. J. W. Scott, mother of the bride. The many young friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Martin extend hearty congratulations and best wishes.

BRAZOS COUNTY HAS ORGANIZED SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE AGAIN

At a meeting held on Monday night at the tailor shop of C. S. Beck with there was organized an association to be known as the "Brazos County Sunday School League," with officers as follows: Oak McKenzie, president; Bob Mawhinney, vice president; and C. S. Beckwith, secretary-treasurer. Committees were appointed by the president as follows: Grounds, E. E. Yeager, Will Walker, Hendrix Conway; constitution and by-laws, Rev. L. Guy Ament, J. W. Hamilton and J. Seeley Caldwell; equipment, J. W. Hamilton, Bob Mawhinney and C. S. Beckwith. Mr. Beckwith was also named to work out the schedule when all teams have been entered. The grounds committee was authorized to advertise for bids for refreshment and stand rights on the field.

Five Entries Already.

There were five local Sunday schools represented at the meeting, as follows: Methodists, Baptists, Free Baptists, Christian and Presbyterian. The total number at the meeting was around 20, and much interest was shown in the formation of the Sunday School Baseball League for a means of pastime and entertainment this spring, as has been the custom in past years. The list of entries includes each of the five Sunday schools and the list was left open until a later date so that others might get in the League to make things more interesting. C. S. Beckwith has been named by the president to form the schedule when all entries are in. The committees were instructed to report their work done at the next meeting which will be called through an announcement in the Eagle.

Will Build Stand.

There is in the treasury of the Sunday School League, remaining over from last year, $152 for the purpose of erecting stands at the Allen Academy field. The grounds committee will go to work on the proposition of the stands right away so that they will be ready for use at the coming games which will start some time in April.

Those present at last night's meeting were: Joe Spell, E. E. Yeager, J. H. Conway, M. P. Elliott, R. H. Mawhinney, Griff Cloud, B. C. Allen, Will Walker, Oak McKenzie, C. S. Beckwith, Albert Goodman, J. D. Martin, Jr., Louis McCullough, Rev. L. Guy Ament, J. S. Caldwell, Judge J. W. Hamilton and H. A. Robertson.

JUDGE DAVIS IN A TALK "FAITH OF OUR FATHERS" ON SUNDAY

Judge W. C. Davis and S. C. Hoyle motored to Bishopville Sunday afternoon to deliver addresses and participate in a Sunday school and church program which had been prepared for the community by Rev. N. S. Johnson, pastor of the circuit, in cooperation with the members of the church and Sunday school in the community. The school house was comfortably filled with visitors from Franklin, Hearne, Elliott, and the surrounding neighborhood who were amply rewarded by an interesting and instructive program, consisting of songs from the various groups of young people connected with the school. S. C. Hoyle was then introduced and delivered a short talk. Rev. Johnson introduced Judge Davis who delivered the address of the occasion, taking as his subject the "Faith of Our Fathers."

Visited the Churches.

He outlined his visit to New York as a delegate to the National Democratic Convention, and painted a beautiful word picture of this great metropolis which he aptly called the Sodom and Gomorrah of the Western Hemisphere. After telling of his visit to the Bowers, Broadway, Fifth Avenue and a number of interesting places in the city, together with a description of a few of the leading skyscrapers, he turned to the beautiful faith and spirit of sacrifice of our forefathers in the Colonial days which made this metropolis possible and told of the noble principles they represented. He then compared this with the present day, by saying that he went to the First Baptist church, which is a model of beauty and has a wonderful seating capacity. There he found an entertaining program which he described but said that he was disappointed to find only about 100 people present at the morning hour to participate. He next visited Trinity and described this historic church and the excellent program presented to about 40 people by actual count. At this time he spoke of visiting the ancient cemetery connected therewith where rests the remains of such men as Alexander Hamilton, Aaron Burr, Eli Whitney and Robert Fulton, who had worshipped in this church, and compared their faith with that of the present day.

Picture Show Crowds.

In the evening he attended the First Methodist church with a seating capacity of 12,000 people. He told of its grandeur and complimented the program but was disappointed that the ministers at the churches dare not rebuke the iniquity of the times and bemoaned the fact that there were a number in each block and that all were crowded, frequently witnessing pictures of the vilest character which were a reproach to civilized people.

He then dwelt upon the fact that a warning would be sent as had been done when Jonah was sent to Nineveh and Lot to Sodom and Gomorrah and referred to the trembling of the huge skyscrapers a short time ago which gave indication of an unsafe foundation. At the close of the services the people were profuse in their expressions of appreciation and invitations were given to Judge Davis to come to Robertson county and deliver one of the inspiring addresses characteristic of the judge.

EDGE JUST TOO BUSY TO ENTER THE MEET

Edge has had so many things since school opened last fall to make inroads upon her time that they felt they could not take the necessary time for proper preparations for the interscholastic athletic meet to be held this Friday at A. and M. College. The purpose of this announcement is to correct any idea that the Edge community and school management is not in hearty sympathy with the purpose and value of the meet. The school would have entered in their determined aving had not the time been so limited for preparation. And the entire Edge people extend to the Meet their very heartiest good wishes, with the promise that another year Edge will expect to bring home the loving cups. EDGE HIGH SCHOOL, P. S. Mangum, Principal.

MRS. ROBERTSON HURT WHEN KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTO ON SATURDAY

Mrs. M. A. Robertson is suffering with a dislocated shoulder and many painful bruises as the result of being hit by an automobile and knocked to the pavement on Main Street Saturday afternoon. In the drizzle of rain, the windshield of a Ford car, which was parked on the street, was so beclouded that the driver failed to see Mrs. Robertson as she was stepping onto the sidewalk from the street nearby. With violence the car hit Mrs. Robertson, lifting her off her feet and throwing her to the pavement with a force that caused the painful result as stated above. Friends carried Mrs. Robertson to the home of her mother, Mrs. E. L. Godwin, on East 24th street, where she was attended by a physician. She is doing nicely and improving fast. Her many friends hope she will soon be well again.

Joseph Matejska of Wheelock, Robertson county, was among the visitors in Bryan today.

Astin home on College Avenue was gutted, the house being badly damaged and a heavy loss also on some very fine and valuable furniture, not to mention the many personal effects and articles of other than intrinsic value. The actual loss in toto, is estimated by Mr. Astin, at around $35,000. The walls are still standing and do not seem to have been damaged. Two rooms are also intact. This was one of Bryan's finest brick homes and is not only an economic loss to the owner but to the city of Bryan as well.

WORBBINGTON'S ALARM

The alarm was received at the fire station at about 11:45 o'clock last night and was turned in by Motor-man Pete Worbbington of the Bryan-College Interurban car which was making its last run from College to Bryan. The firemen made a quick run but there was a little delay when it was found that the caps were hard fast and took time to uncaps. After water was turned on, the fireman did very efficient work and it is due to their ability and labor that the flames did not cause more damage than they did. The fire was well under way by the time the fire department had arrived on the scene and seemed to come from the interior of the house. The high wind was a handicap but to offset that the metal roof kept the fire within the building and from getting out through the top.

One fireman, Waldon Jones, was slightly injured when he stepped on a broken bit of glassware and it penetrated his rubber boot and cut his foot. He was able to be at work and to walk on it today, however.

BRAZOS COUNTY

BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB DEPARTMENT

Is A "Progressive" Farmer.

C. A. Schram, a prosperous and progressive farmer living in the Fickey community, states that one of the best moves he ever made on his farm was made when he began to terrace his land. He also states that the demonstration has been very helpful to his neighbors who become convinced as a result of the work on his farm, that terracing is effective in stopping soil washing. We used the word "progressive" in speaking of Mr. Schram, because about his place may be seen evidence corroborating such a word. Well-filled barns with home-made products, handy farm shop, a great flock of pure-bred White Wyandottes, registered bull at head of his head of cattle, fine flock of Big Bronze turkeys, 25 of which sold for an average of $4 apiece on local market, a home orchard, etc., all tend to show what can be done on the farm. Recently Mr. Schram sold four calves at an average of $40 apiece, the only complaint the local butcher made being that they were too fat.

Five Farm Success Points.

In his "Success Talk for Farm Boys" in "Progressive Farmer," Clarence Poe offers the following five suggestions in his first letter: Learn something, earn something, save something, excel in something, and give something.

Aggies Been Club Boys.

Good Machinery Necessary.

Nearly every industry, except agriculture, is equipped with modern machinery and equipment sufficient to make possible the greatest efficiency. Planters, stalk cutters, harrows, hoes, good plows and ample power make good farming, and the lack of these things often accounts for poor crops.

Rotation Is Rotation.

Rotation in office is of less significance to the farmer than rotation of crops, at least it should be.

Business In Agriculture.

In a recent article in the Country Gentleman on "As Business Sees Agriculture," Richard F. Grant, president, Chamber of Commerce, United States, presents some wonderfully fine thought regarding the condition of agriculture. If all the directors of every chamber of commerce in the United States would read carefully the entire article it would certainly help to impress on the business men of this country a great field of service which could be rendered in bringing about a better understanding of the interdependence of business and agriculture. Mr. Grant states that because of diversity of output and conditions governing production, agriculture needs the application of business principles more than any other American industry. How far we are short of this is too obvious. He also calls attention to the fact that acreages planted to particular crops each year vary in direct ratio to the prices paid for such crops the previous year. Could anything be said that would better fit the practices of us cotton farmers? Texas farmer planted 14,000,000 acres of cotton in 1923. With a short crop prices went up, with the result that we planted 16,000,000 acres to cotton in 1924 and received $100,000,000 less than we received for the short crop the year before.

Work of Our Teachers.

In a recent issue of "Better Methods," published at Moultrie, Georgia, H. D. Cuykendall of the Bryan Eagle has a splendid story about the Edge Blue Ribbon "40" Boys' and Girls' Club. After all has been said concerning the achievements in club work there yet remains to be said that in addition to bringing about a better agriculture, the work has also served to develop leadership among rural teachers in everything conducive to rural progress and rural life betterment, and not merely a teacher of the printed page. The work of the Mangums in community work at Edge and the wonderful achievements of the Peter's Prairie Club of Mason county through the leadership of Miss Westbrook ought to serve to arouse all rural teachers to a sense of their great opportunities.

Know Poultry To Succeed.

There are seven varieties of Plymouth Rock, all identical, except in color. If you raise Barred Rocks, you should know both characteristic markings and disqualifications. Remember that two or more black primary feathers, or secondary feathers, or main tail feathers will disqualify. The general plumage is grayish white, each feather being crossed by distinct light and dark bars of equal width, and barring to extend full length of feather. The tip of each feather should be black, or dark. The new Standard of Perfection, which every poultry raiser should possess, gives type in color, shape, etc. Take your best birds and make comparison with this in order that you may get well fixed in mind the ideal type of the Barred Rock. In addition to this you must know something of the principles underlying breeding—breeding for type and breeding for egg production. If you can not become interested in such work, or undertaking, then you better leave the job to some one else. Those starting out in the poultry business would do well to spend a day visiting the poultry farms of V. J. Boriskie, Mrs. R. Franze, Miss Mary Locke, and others in order to see just what can be done in the way of making the poultry business a success. One of the first impressions made on the visitor will be the intense interest of the owner in the management of the flock. This interest always seeks a solution to the many problems arising from time to time.

Millican Boys' and Girls' Club.

The Millican Boys' and Girls' Club has 28 members: 14 in poultry, 5 pig club members, 4 garden, 1 cotton, 1 baby beef, 1 sweet potato, 1 dairy calf, and 1 watermelon. Lillian Mills is president; Janie Ward, secretary, and Mrs. Vada Simpson, adult club leader. The club meets every first and third Tuesdays. The Millican club is headed for success.

LIONS CLUB HELD A RECORD LUNCHEON MEETING TUESDAY

The Tuesday noon luncheon of the Bryan Lions' Club at the Episcopal Parish was one that will long be remembered by the large number who were present. Not only was this a record meeting in point of attendance but from the things accomplished and the interest manifested. The meeting opened as usual with song, and other songs were sung with R. L. Brown and S. Moylan Bird leading, the latter being a special guest on the occasion. Rev. Bird also rendered two fine solos, the first "The Old Road," and as an encore, "Smilin' Through."

Lion J. Bryan Miller reported on the minutes of the last preceding meeting as assistant secretary for the club, which report was accepted. He then resigned his place, giving as his reason that he was always ready and willing to do anything that he might be asked and that he felt that more responsibility should be thrown to those who might be wont to shrink it, in order to "bring them out."

Chautauqua Discussed.

The club voted to accept the resignation for reasons given and upon motion of M. M. Erskine, which received a second, Harry Edge was elected by acclamation and the book and records turned over to him.

The club voted to endorse a communication from City Manager Miller with regard to skating on the city streets and the danger that children run in so doing. Lion Sholl, chairman of the committee for the proposed Easter egg hunt, reported that his committee had not met but would have things in shape to give out some information at the next meeting of the club.

A discussion of the coming Chautauqua programs was then entered into by Lions Armstrong, Newton, Erskine, and others. It was voted that the Club give its endorsement to the Chautauqua and help in every way possible to put over the programs and the ticket sale with success.

Committee Is Named.

President C. A. Searcy thanked the committee that visited the Reliance community club meeting on last Friday night and stated that he had taken it upon himself to visit the box supper at Leonard school house the previous evening. In line with the club's policy of rural encouragement, President Searcy appointed Lions Parks, Edge and Ratcliff to go to the next community club meeting and all meetings in rural district prior to the next meeting of the Lions on next Tuesday noon.

The meeting was then turned over to Lion Spence who introduced H. H. House, director of physical education of the A. and M. College, who talked on "Hygiene." "The subject of 'Hygiene' does not seem to have many ramifications to the average man," said Coach House, "but it really means the care of the body and mind, though we usually think of it in terms of the body only. It is divided into five parts: Personal, or care of the individual body; public or community, which is the relation of the community to the individual and takes in quarantine, sewage disposal, and all things wherein one individual endangers the welfare of others; social or sex, which has to do with the social element of hygiene and is both personal and public in nature and also deals with moral issues; buildings, which deals with ventilation, lighting, etc., in our offices, workshops and homes; and last, but not least, mental, which is concerned with the mind."

Visitors Introduced.

Coach House then took up the different forms of mental disease, the different kinds of insanity, discussed psychology, psychoanalysis, and other things pertaining to the subject, in a most interesting manner of everyone present until the closing song.

R. E. Bosque and Tom Shealy were introduced as visitors.

COLORED SCHOOL OF BRYAN HAS CLOSED A MOST EVENTFUL WEEK

Saturday marked the close of an eventful week in the colored school. Tuesday brought to us Rev. Barnwell, who assured us that his visit was not accidental, but that he planned each year to make a trip to our school. The simple truths he presented were emphasized and made impressive by the use of illustrative placards and beautiful health songs.

At the assembly period Wednesday morning, Dr. A. E. Thompson made us a talk. He explained the three common phases of nervousness, describing the causes and symptoms. The following parents were present: P. Brooks, L. Sharp and J. L. Thomas. Parents who come to visit are always welcome; they get a better understanding of the real work of the school, and give encouragement to both pupils and teachers.

On Friday and Saturday the Inter-scholastic league of Brazos county held its session and the Bryan colored school enjoyed two days of successful competition. In the junior spelling contest Arthur Lokelton and George Agent, both sixth grade pupils, were the successful contestants. Audrey Hinton, a ninth grade pupil, won in the public speaking contest.

REV. UPTON WILL PREACH AT STEEP HOLLOW SUNDAY

Rev. L. C. Upton will preach at Steep Hollow next Sunday morning. The subject will be "God Looketh on the Heart." A short, but very important church conference will be held at 10:30, just preceding the morning service.

"PECAN DAY" IS SET FOR MAY 6 IN BRAZOS

Wednesday, May 6, has been set apart as pecan day in Brazos county when demonstrations in pecan budging will be conducted in several communities of the county. Dean E. J. Kyle of the A. and M. College has kindly volunteered the services of senior students, specially trained in pecan budging, to assist in conducting the demonstrations on that day, three or more students taking charge of the groups in each community. Farmers and others interested in such work should attend the meetings and learn not only how to put paper shell pecans on native trees, but also learn from the talks that may be made something of the wonderful possibilities of the pecan industry in Brazos county. There is no better pecan land in Texas than is found on Bee Creek, Cedar Creek, Brazos Bottoms and other rich, loamy lands of the county. Demonstrations will be conducted in Smetana community, Edge, Tabor, and perhaps other communities of the county, definite announcements being made later. Buds will be furnished free for each demonstration, those for whom the work will be done furnishing, in turn, dinner of spring chicken, turnip greens, corn bread, and good cold buttermilk, etc.

Ask your country agent how to prepare budding knives so you may be ready to join in the work of that day to the end that it may be indeed a red letter day for the pecan industry in old Brazos.

ONE OF BRYAN'S FINEST HOMES DESTROYED BY FIRE LAST NIGHT

BRYAN BOY WINS EDISON ESSAY CONTEST—IS STUDENT OF MASONIC HOME

Mrs. A. R. Sutton returned this morning from Fort Worth where she has been since last Friday visiting her sons, Ralph and Rayson, who are in the Masonic Orphans' Home. Mrs. Sutton is very proud of a badge of honor, or medal, which was won by Rayson for writing an essay on "Home Lighting," the medal bearing the bust of Edison and the inscription of how it was won and the recipient's name. Mrs. Sutton does not stint in her praise of the Masonic Home. She said that of three medals awarded to students of schools in Fort Worth, the Masonic Home won two of them, which is certainly creditable. While she cannot have the pleasure of keeping her boys at home, Mrs. Sutton says that she realizes they are receiving better care and training than she could possibly give them and is thereby gratified.

BRAZOS COUNTY HAS ORGANIZED SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE AGAIN

At a meeting held on Monday night at the tailor shop of C. S. Beck with there was organized an association to be known as the "Brazos County Sunday School League," with officers as follows: Oak McKenzie, president; Bob Mawhinney, vice president; and C. S. Beckwith, secretary-treasurer. Committees were appointed by the president as follows: Grounds, E. E. Yeager, Will Walker, Hendrix Conway; constitution and by-laws, Rev. L. Guy Ament, J. W. Hamilton and J. Seeley Caldwell; equipment, J. W. Hamilton, Bob Mawhinney and C. S. Beckwith. Mr. Beckwith was also named to work out the schedule when all teams have been entered. The grounds committee was authorized to advertise for bids for refreshment and stand rights on the field.

Five Entries Already.

There were five local Sunday schools represented at the meeting, as follows: Methodists, Baptists, Free Baptists, Christian and Presbyterian. The total number at the meeting was around 20, and much interest was shown in the formation of the Sunday School Baseball League for a means of pastime and entertainment this spring, as has been the custom in past years. The list of entries includes each of the five Sunday schools and the list was left open until a later date so that others might get in the League to make things more interesting. C. S. Beckwith has been named by the president to form the schedule when all entries are in. The committees were instructed to report their work done at the next meeting which will be called through an announcement in the Eagle.

Will Build Stand.

There is in the treasury of the Sunday School League, remaining over from last year, $152 for the purpose of erecting stands at the Allen Academy field. The grounds committee will go to work on the proposition of the stands right away so that they will be ready for use at the coming games which will start some time in April.

Those present at last night's meeting were: Joe Spell, E. E. Yeager, J. H. Conway, M. P. Elliott, R. H. Mawhinney, Griff Cloud, B. C. Allen, Will Walker, Oak McKenzie, C. S. Beckwith, Albert Goodman, J. D. Martin, Jr., Louis McCullough, Rev. L. Guy Ament, J. S. Caldwell, Judge J. W. Hamilton and H. A. Robertson.

JUDGE DAVIS IN A TALK "FAITH OF OUR FATHERS" ON SUNDAY

Judge W. C. Davis and S. C. Hoyle motored to Bishopville Sunday afternoon to deliver addresses and participate in a Sunday school and church program which had been prepared for the community by Rev. N. S. Johnson, pastor of the circuit, in cooperation with the members of the church and Sunday school in the community. The school house was comfortably filled with visitors from Franklin, Hearne, Elliott, and the surrounding neighborhood who were amply rewarded by an interesting and instructive program, consisting of songs from the various groups of young people connected with the school. S. C. Hoyle was then introduced and delivered a short talk. Rev. Johnson introduced Judge Davis who delivered the address of the occasion, taking as his subject the "Faith of Our Fathers."

Visited the Churches.

He outlined his visit to New York as a delegate to the National Democratic Convention, and painted a beautiful word picture of this great metropolis which he aptly called the Sodom and Gomorrah of the Western Hemisphere. After telling of his visit to the Bowery, Broadway, Fifth Avenue and a number of interesting places in the city, together with a description of a few of the leading skyscrapers, he turned to the beautiful faith and spirit of sacrifice of our forefathers in the Colonial days which made this metropolis possible and told of the noble principles they represented. He then compared this with the present day, by saying that he went to the First Baptist church, which is a model of beauty and has a wonderful seating capacity. There he found an entertaining program which he described but said that he was disappointed to find only about 100 people present at the morning hour to participate. He next visited Trinity and described this historic church and the excellent program presented to about 40 people by actual count. At this time he spoke of visiting the ancient cemetery connected therewith where rests the remains of such men as Alexander Hamilton, Aaron Burr, Eli Whitney and Robert Fulton, who had worshipped in this church, and compared their faith with that of the present day.

Picture Show Crowds.

In the evening he attended the First Methodist church with a seating capacity of 12,000 people. He told of its grandeur and complimented the program but was disappointed that the ministers at the churches dare not rebuke the iniquity of the times and bemoaned the fact that there were a number in each block and that all were crowded, frequently witnessing pictures of the vilest character which were a reproach to civilized people.

He then dwelt upon the fact that a warning would be sent as had been done when Jonah was sent to Nineveh and Lot to Sodom and Gomorrah and referred to the trembling of the huge skyscrapers a short time ago which gave indication of an unsafe foundation. At the close of the services the people were profuse in their expressions of appreciation and invitations were given to Judge Davis to come to Robertson county and deliver one of the inspiring addresses characteristic of the judge.

EDGE JUST TOO BUSY TO ENTER THE MEET

Edge has had so many things since school opened last fall to make inroads upon her time that they felt they could not take the necessary time for proper preparations for the interscholastic athletic meet to be held this Friday at A. and M. College. The purpose of this announcement is to correct any idea that the Edge community and school management is not in hearty sympathy with the purpose and value of the meet. The school would have entered in their determined swing had not the time been so limited for preparation. And the entire Edge people extend to the meet their very heartiest good wishes, with the promise that another year Edge will expect to bring home the loving cups. EDGE HIGH SCHOOL, P. S. Mangum, Principal.
